

Reading

Reading is one of the most valuable skills we can teach our children and something we really value here at Inkpen. Last term we were able to offer parents an insight into how children can be supported at home as well as how we support your children in school at our Reading Workshop.

This term we would like parents and children to join our “Catch me Reading” project with photos of parents as well as children reading in a wide range of places (the stranger the better) – proving that we really can read everywhere!

It would also be good to show that it doesn't matter what we read, as long as we read. Newspapers, magazines and even cereal packets can all be read.

I realise that not everybody prints out photos now so if you wish to email the photos to me on: Headteacher@inkpen.w-berks.sch.uk I will make sure they are printed for our upcoming display.

We will continue taking photos until after half term when the display will be put up. Please help make our display wonderful with as many different reading pictures as you can.

To celebrate regular reading of school books at home, or a library book if a child is a free reader, we will be running a ½ termly reading lottery. Children will be given a ticket for every time they register 5 'reads' at home. This will then be entered into the draw with the chance of winning a prize...

New PE Kit

We are very grateful to Inkpen Parish Council who had some funds available which have allowed the school to purchase a complete set of hoodies, shirts & shorts for the children to wear at tournaments they attend. I am sure you will agree that they look very smart!
